God's Word challenges us to 'train up a child in the way he should go.' Today's parents, pastors, youth workers and teachers are training tomorrow's generation. Secular society is clearly showing the result of a lack of emphasis on training.

Mentoring and Modeling is a primer that can help those who are working with young people to do so in an effective way. Former President Ronald Reagan said, 'We don't expect children to discover the principles of calculus on their own, but some would give them no guidance when it comes to ethics, morality, and values.'

This book will show a number of ways that children can be mentored. Bob Jones Sr. said, 'You will be someday what you are now becoming.' Pastors, parents, youth workers and teachers have a duty to mold the young people God entrusts to them in a way that pleases and glorifies our Lord and Saviour.

Includes a study guide for class setting or personal application.
