Hand Pearls, 1e Matthew J. Concannon MD, Jack Hurov PhD MSPT CHT

65 detailed case studies from the authors' practices challenge the reader with a patient description, a figure as a clue to the problem, and a question. Subsequent pages reveal the answer and offer an in-depth discussion of the case, as well as Clinical Pearls summarizing key points and a few current references.

- Heavily illustrated with the highest quality photographs, radiographs, and MRI and CT scans.
- Applies an efficient problem-solving, self-study approach
- Reviews key elements of clinical evaluation and rational management not readily available in standard textbooks
- Each case finishes with a description of the presented patient; treatment, course, and outcome.
- Includes several color panels
- 17th book in The Pearls Series, a series of case studies; highly successful texts covering, e.g., infectious disease, rheumatology, urology, sleep medicine, cardiology, neurology, dermatology, and internal medicine.
