From inside the book:

"The facts narrated in this work, are compiled from Mr. Dixon's own notes ; who, after having been five years a captive among the Black-Foot Indians, made his escape into New Mexico, where he obtained employment in the capacity of shepherd to Castra Urego, a wealthy Spaniard of that country, with the design (as his notes inform us) to raise sufficient funds to return to England, where he intended to publish this work. But, unfortunately, he was taken sick and died, before his term of service with Castra Urego expired. And, until recently, it was not known, except by his relations and immediate friends, that John Dixon, the English captive among the American Indians, ever lived ; nor would the facts ever have been known, probably, but for accident, which brought them to light."
